

My Trip to Hunstanton Pier

Hi, guys... it's me Louis and today my post is about my trip to a place called Hunstanton. Where and what is Hunstanton you may ask? Well it is a lovely place on the East Coast. The reason we went there was just for a nice day out. It took a long time to get there though. I wonder if any of you guys have been there yourselves? When we got there, we all had a look around the beautiful pier. It didn't have that much of a beach but it did have tons of grass and, lots of benches scattered around the amazing pier. And the thing that made this pier amazing was that it was made out of glass. Yeah... it's made out of glass but before we went in the pier, we looked at some shops. We didn't actually get much but there were lots of cool stuff there.

Now we went into the glass building and played ten pin bowling. We put on some blue and red shoes, which had no tread on them, at all. Now it was my turn to bowl my Dad had just got a strike. With some help from my Dad I ran up, rolled the ball straight down the middle... STRIKE! I was extremely happy. Overall I came second, Dad came first and my Mum and brother came joint third. Then we went outside and had an Oreo ice cream. Yum! That's the end of my post, hope you enjoyed.
